 - Most businesses that are sole proprietorships and general partnerships must be registered with the Secretary of State's office. Missouri law requires any person or business entity which transacts business in the state under a name other than their own "true name" to register that business name with the Secretary of State's office as a Fictitious Name Registration. For a sole proprietorship or partnership, a business name is generally considered "fictitious" unless it contains the last name and a recognizable form of the first name of the owner or all of the general partners and does not suggest the existence of additional owners. For example, use of a name which includes words like "company," "associates," "brothers," or "sons" suggest additional owners and makes it necessary for the business to file a fictitious name registration. All Missouri corporations, limited liability companies, limited partnerships and limited liability partnerships are required to register with the Secretary of State's office. In most cases, foreign entities are required to register; however, you may want to consult with an attorney or an accountant to determine if your business meets one of the exemptions.
